press release

For Immediate Release

Title: Tunstall Connects with the Future

Tunstall Healthcare is proud to launch the Connect +, the next generation of in home personal alarms.

Geared for the future, Tunstall's new Connect + is VoIP enabled and can operate on the digital phone network or current analogue phone system.

Designed to assist older people or people with special needs, the user can activate a call for help 24 hours a day, seven days a week and speak with one of Tunstall's response operators to organise the assistance required.

This assistance may be a family member, carer or ambulance.

The new Tunstall Connect + can make the home even safer by interfacing with up to 35 plug and play sensors that monitor activities and conditions within the home.

Some of the sensors that can be installed detect if the user has gotten out of bed and not returned, left their home at an unusual time, there is excessive water flooding the floor or smoke is present in the home.

If a potentially hazardous situation is detected by one of the sensors the Connect+ will alert Tunstall's 24 hour response centre or a designated family member or carer.

The Tunstall Connect + has an automatic time based reminder facility where prompts such as 'remember to take your medication' can be programmed in to the alarm unit.

The Tunstall Connect + requires confirmation to ensure that the activity has been undertaken.

Reminders and messages can also be recorded into the Tunstall Connect + using the familiar voice of a family member or carer.

Catering for people who require ongoing care, the Tunstall Connect + will raise an alert to Tunstall's 24 hour response centre if a carer has not attended and confirmed a scheduled visit.

The sleek European designed Connect + fits neatly and discretely into the home environment.

The new Tunstall Connect + has an extensive list of additional features to provide safety in the home and peace of mind to family and friends.
