Title: Positively Ageless

Queensland Seniors Week 15-23 August 2009

For seniors week 2009 'Positively Ageless', Tunstall Healthcare announces that it can help people to live positively and ageless.

Tunstall Healthcare, the world's leading provider of telehealthcare offers assistive technology solutions that allow people to maintain their independence in the home for longer.

Tunstall's solutions provide peace of mind to family, friends and carers, knowing that help is available if and when their loved one needs it.

Tunstall supports people with varying needs, providing telecare solutions and a 24 hour response service.

Solutions such as personal alarms allow residents to make quick and easy access with Tunstall's response centre, where the response centre operator organises the assistance needed.

This could be for a family member or neighbour to be contacted, ambulance to be called, or after hours doctor to be organised.

Tunstall provides a range of detector and sensors for people with additional needs.

This includes the Tunstall fall detector for people prone to falling, property exit sensor for people who exit the home at inappropriate times without returning, chair and bed occupancy sensor for people who may not be going to or getting out of bed, and specialty sensors like the epilepsy sensor that can detect tonic-clonic seizures and automatically alert a carer.

Tunstall also custom makes solutions to cater to the individuals needs.

Tunstall is focused on assisting people to maintain their independence in the home, and to keep living agelessly for as long as possible.
